

Software Retirement Bulletin: December 2015

End of Support: Once support ends, the manufacturer no longer issues security fixes or any other updates to the product, representing a high risk to the state and agency operations. Agencies must plan to migrate from this software before the end of support date.

Product Name & Version	End of Support Date
• Microsoft Internet Explorer 7	01/02/2016
• Microsoft Internet Explorer 8	01/02/2016
• Microsoft Internet Explorer 9 when used with Windows 7, 8, 8.1 or with Server 2008 R2 or Server 2012 R2	01/02/2016
• Microsoft Internet Explorer 10 when used with Windows 7, 8, 8.1 or with Server 2008 R2 or Server 2012 R2	01/02/2016
• Microsoft SQL Server 2005	04/12/2016

End of Mainstream Support: Once mainstream support ends, the manufacturer will no longer issue software enhancements or fixes, representing a risk to the agency’s business operations. The manufacturer will continue to issue security fixes for a period of time.

Warning: There are potentially high impacts to migrate from these products. You should start planning your migration to new versions as soon as possible.

Product Name & Version	Mainstream Support Ended/Ends
• Microsoft Server 2008	01/13/2015
• Microsoft Windows 7	01/13/2015
• Microsoft Office 2010	10/13/2015
• Microsoft SharePoint Server 2010	10/13/2015
• Oracle Java SE 6	12/31/2015
• Oracle My SQL Database 5.5	12/31/2015